LUNDBRECK MARKETING, SPORTS AND FIELD DAY

Tennyson, Maycroft and Lundbreck branches of the Canadian Red Cross Society united in a day of activity at Lundbreck on Wednesday afternoon of last week that netted the combined treasury nearly $500.

Intensely organized, goods for auction and booth selling came in from the districts surrounding Lundbreck and from North Fork, Tennyson, Cowley, Maycroft, Todd Creek, Chapel Rock, Burnis and Fligrove.

Lumber for the booths was donated by the Burnis Lumber Co. Sandy Leslie, for years an auctioneer in Scotland, kept the crowd in a cheerful buying mood and commanded good prices.

Booths, inside the Community hall, were well filled with plain and fancy sewing, home cooking and a miscellaneous collection of useful articles. Booths outside supplied the people with ice cream, soft drinks and hot dogs. The tea tables, under Mrs. Mundy's capable direction, served lunch from 12 to 6 p.m. Two expert fortune tellers, using cards and tea-cups were kept busy throughout the afternoon.

Three ball games were played, the teams being Cowley, Tannor and Lundbreck. Lundbreck first, Cowley second.

Children's foot races were also featured, and for a dance, Kropink's orchestra was kept busy from 9 p.m. to 3 a.m.

Many people donated generously of money, time and materials, and the three Red Cross branches wish to thank everyone who contributed to the success of the day.

BRITAIN'S LATEST FIGHTER

New facts about Britain's latest fighter aircraft, the Hawker Typhoon, disclose that it has more speed, greater firing power and heavier armament than any single-seater fighter yet designed. With a longer range than the Hurricane or Spitfire, it will be able to penetrate much further into enemy country.

Created by Sidney Camm, who gave Britain's Royal Air Force the Hurricane, the Fury and the Hart, each supreme in its day and class, the Typhoon is a compact low-wing monoplane equipped with a Napier-Sabre 24-cylinder H-type engine.

The world's most powerful aeromotor, the Sabre, develops 2,550 h.p. for take-off and 1,800 h.p. at rated height and gives a top speed of over 400 m.p.h., with a very high rate of climb. This engine, which develops more power than the Royal Scot, is expected to make aircraft history.

The armament, according to tactical requirements, consists of a mixture of multiple machine guns or shell-firing cannon.

The Typhoon flew for the first time in February, 1940, and it will be in service before the Tornado.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. George Youngberg, of Bellevue, announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Muriel Jean, to Mr. Joseph Pozzi, youngest son of Mrs. Stella Pozzi and the late E. J. Pozzi, of Blairmore, the wedding to take place early in July.

BRITAIN WILL TRIUMPH

With gleaming banners, all unfurled, Her armies matched against the world, From factory, mart and speeding fields,

Embattled Britain proudly yields The bravest of her sons, her youth, To fight for freedom, honor, truth. Where sun-washed valleys calmly sleep

Amid the mountain fastness, deep, Where fishers on the off-shore toll To glean the salt sea of its spoil; Where plowmen on the western plain Turn rich earth to grow the grain: From cities, hamlets, near and far, Britannia's heroes march to war.

Not for a service born of fear, For Bear, or Wolf, or Chanticleer, They pledge allegiance to the cause Of Britain's honor, freedom's laws. No despot drives them in their fight As freemen sworn to serve the right.

Around the world their engines roar, And speed the ships from shore to shore.

Nations beneath the tyrants' heel The impact of their warfare feel; And lands betrayed, defeated, slain, In resurrection live again.

Then up! To arms! The foe is near! Shake off the shins of califf fear. By bitter tears, by blood and sweat Britannia will be victor yet; And from the vaulted heaven afar Will ring the triumph trump of war.

—T. B. Windross.

CHAPTER XII

The sun was already high, a scalding light set directly overhead, when Devona and Dale rode back across the mesa on mounts weary and doleful enough now.

"Darling, let's not go right back to the house," Dale suggested as they came over a canyon rim where they could see the green-dwelling oasis that was Pains Springs spilled into the little valley below. "I don't want to share you with any one—not yet. Can't we have this day just to ourselves?"

"Yes—let's," Devona smiled happily, still scarcely aware that there was a real world to go back to, everyday problems to solve.

Dale sent their tired horses back to the stables by means of a smiling Mexican lad and a silver coin. Then, stately, hand-in-hand, they wandered through Palm Springs. Little curly boys where dark-eyed Mexican girls tried to sell them everything from serapes to hammered silver souvenirs.

"The flowers will like this, Senor," one shy, dark-eyed girl insisted, holding an exquisitely intricate silver locket in the palm of her hand.

Dale grinned, turned to her. "How about it, Senora?" he teased.

Flushing, Devona tried to pretend unconcern. "It's very lovely." But not half so lovely as this playing at being Dale's wife. Just make-believe now, for fun, of course. But some day—

Her heart beat so hard it made her hands tremble as she picked up the lovely locket, pretended to examine it closely.

"Put it on, darling," Dale insisted, snatched the fastener around her neck himself when she demurred. "Like it?"

She nodded. "But Dale, please—'I like it, too,' and calmly laid green bills on the counter."

"Dale—please. You mustn't." Her fingers fumbled with the slender clasp.

"And why not?" He caught her hands, held them prisoner. "If I want to buy you something—to remember this day by, why shouldn't I?"

As if she'd need anything to make her remember this day, Devona thought, smiling. But she didn't have a chance to tell him that. The Mexican shopkeeper was back now with the change.

"Dale?" Vana looked at her steadily. "I see."

"Mother—Vana, I mean—I came to tell you something—"

Her tongue tripped awkwardly over the thrilling news.

"Tell me first why you insist on tagging Dale around all day."

"I wasn't. I mean—we rode out on the mesa and then I—"

In the face of her mother's cool little smile, Devona felt enthusiasm and confidence ebbing swiftly.

"Well—"

"You needn't bother about me any more, Vana. About my career or anything. I mean: You see, I'm going to marry Dale," she blurted finally.

For an instant Vana just looked at her. Then, with ominous quiet, "You are going to marry whom?"

"Dale. We found it out today. That we love each other, I mean."

Trembling, she sat down on the edge of a chair, fortifying her riding gloves as she waited for Vana's approval. Naturally her mother would be glad to have everything solved this easily.

"Are you sure?" The question came cool and sharp as a stiletto thrust.

"But—of course. He loves me. We—"

Vana calmly lit a cigarette. "Did he set the date for the wedding?"

"Oh, no. Not yet. We just—"

"Did he ask you—in so many words—to be his wife?" Vana's gray eyes were leveled at her, her inauspicious only too clear.

"Why—"

Devona hesitated. He hadn't actually said—but, of course—

"I thought so," Vana went on smoothly.

"But—he said he loved me, wanted never to lose me—"

Devona thought back through the long, glorious day, remembering his exact words, his—

"Believe me, dear, when I tell you to put Dale brother out of the wedding," she went on quietly. "I'm only sparing you suffering. And now—"

With sudden bright cheerfulness—"I have really good news for you," Devona just looked at her, mute, stricken.

"I had an answer to my wife to that college I spoke to you about. For a small additional registration fee, you can enter late. And with your background of travel, languages, and all that—"

Vana nodded, scarcely listening. "George is making all the arrangements for you. You can take the evening train from Los Angeles tomorrow. We'll run into town and do a little shopping in the morning."

"All right," Devona agreed dutifully. It didn't matter now. Nothing mattered. If what Vana said was true, with a sudden sweeping restlessness like some lovely bird coming to rest on the arm of Devona's chair, Vana flung her arms around her daughter's neck, kissed her tenderly. "Believe me, dear, this will be best. You are young. Young hearts ache—but they don't break. You'll get over this soon and learn to love—some one else."

Devona met her mother's eyes steadily. "No. There will never be anyone else."

"Don't be silly, child," she contradicted brightly. "Of course there will. Now you run along to bed like a good girl."

For an hour, Devona paced her pretty room, trying desperately to find an answer to the awful question in her heart. Dale had said he loved her. But—and the cold fact loomed larger every moment—he hadn't once mentioned marriage. Not once during their whole long day together. And what if that hadn't been—just accidental? What if he hadn't intended she take that for granted? What if even now he was laughing at her for taking his flirting so seriously?

Heart-ach, she felt the weight of the pretty silver locket at her throat. Biting her babies as he would a child, her pride tormented her. Pretty silver locket instead of—

Bishop Asks Question

Who Will Ring Bells In Britain When Invasion Comes

A ringing question jarred Britain to-day amid swelling talk of invasion in high places and low.

"Who," the Bishop of Chelmsford wants to know, "is going to ring the bells which are supposed to tell the populace that invasion has begun?"

Soldiers are busy digging fresh trenches in the park and are unwieldy, not barred wires to fence at the most every bush and tree, but the Bishop's query is perplexing lots of persons.

It's this way: Britain's churches are locked at night. Comes the invader. What happens? Some one has got to get the key, which usually is kept at the rectory. The rectory often is some distance, perhaps miles, from the church.

Suppose, pausing Paul Reveres reach the rectory. Comes more confusion. Parson must be roused.

Suppose the parson hasn't got the key. He must refer to the vestry, where he must be found, awakened and asked for the key.

In any event, the vergers or more expert bell-ringer, should be on hand to ring the bells because church bell ringing is not like ringing a dinner bell, except point out, and an amateur might crack the bell or jam the clapper.

Some solutions suggested include:

1. Furnish the home guards with skeleton keys to the churches and give them a little instruction in proper bell ringing technique.
2. Substitute rockets for bells.

A Refreshing Story

How The Australian Prime Minister Handled A Snob

While at Plymouth I was told by local pressmen a refreshing story of Mr. Menzies, the Australian premier.

During a recent visit to military stations in the West Country he was accompanied by a suspiciously officious official who did not conceal his loathing for the press and tried hard to keep accredited newspapermen out of sight.

At last Mr. Menzies, having discovered what was happening, called the reporters to him and proceeded to give them a long and interesting personal talk on his morning's experience.

The exasperated official stood this improperly for a few minutes. Then his irritation overcoming his politeness and good judgment, he marched up to Mr. Menzies, saluted, and said sternly: "Excuse me, sir, your lunch is waiting."

Mr. Menzies turned towards him, looked him coldly up and down for some seconds, and observed with slow deliberation: "Push off. You must have seen that I am engaged in an important interview with the press. Push off."

And with this remark and a vast sweep of the arm, Mr. Menzies blotted the official out of the landscape. He did not reappear.

Like the story very much. It is a shrewd, artistic, instructive and true—London News Chronicle.

Could See Ahead

The village of Arthur in Wellington county, Ont., had its Victory Loan quota attended to on the first day at 10 o'clock in the morning. That place is also known as the home of a newspaper whose editor is blind, but the editor and all his neighbors were able to see straight and well and far ahead on this occasion.

Construction of the British House of Parliament required 20 years.

X-Ray Examination

To Be Given To All Soldiers On Their Discharge

Dr. G. F. Wherrett, of Ottawa, executive secretary of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association, said in his report of the association's annual meeting that all members of the armed forces will be given an X-ray examination on discharge.

This precautionary measure was expected to clear up many difficulties as to pension claims which had been so hard to solve since the last war.

Dr. Wherrett believed that claims could be more fairly judged with an X-ray film of the soldier on attestation, and another one on discharge.

Tuberculosis had not been able to impede Canada's war effort in the same way that it did during the First Great War because of the anti-tuberculosis work accomplished in recent years.

"At this stage of the First Great War the problem of tuberculosis was assuming alarming proportions," he said. "Hundreds of men were in hospitals and returning from overseas with tuberculosis."

Dr. J. A. Jarry, of Montreal, in his presidential address, said "that up to 2,000 Canadians have been found unfit for military service because of an old or present tuberculosis." This represented an incidence of 1.4 per cent.

Just Conquered Land

Slovakians Have No Illusions About Status Under Nazi Rule

More than 800 pilots and observers have been transferred from "Independent" Slovakia's air force into the German Luftwaffe under decree of Premier Tuka, Berlin paper in Bratislava.

At the same time a number of Slovak anti-aircraft units have been distributed in small groups among German army units.

The move was made without Slovakia's being consulted or informed. It represents for Slovakians the shattering of their last illusion that the nation set up by the Germans as "independent" is anything more than another conquered land to be Nazi-occupied.

Many of Slovakia's state-owned oil wells, early appropriated by the Nazis, are reported running dry because of intense exploitation. In several instances, production was stepped up to three times original yield.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

NATIONS

A nation is the unity of a people. —Coleridge.

A state is proper, must be built on foundations of a moral character; and this character is the principal element of its strength and the only guaranty of its permanence and prosperity. —James Curry.

The commandments of God are the bread of life for the nations. —Russell D. Hitchcock.

God is Father, infinite, and this great truth, when understood in its divine metaphysics, will establish the brotherhood of man, end wars, and demonstrate "on earth peace, good will toward men." —Mary Baker Eddy.

The true grandeur of nations is in their character, which constitutes the true greatness of the individual. —Charles Sumner.

Until nations are generous they will never be wise; true policy is generous policy; all bitterness, selfishness, etc., may gain small ends, but lose great ones. —Washington Irving.

Just Overlooked

Herr Hitler is reported ready to proclaim a "United States of Europe" and to announce that, since German war aims have been accomplished, he has no reason to continue the war.

The war aim of conquering England must have been accomplished when we weren't looking, says the Buffalo Courier-Express.

Southern Courtesy

Southern courtesy isn't dead yet. Members of a union were picketing a store in Memphis, Tenn., in a heavy rain, when up, drove a woman customer.

One of the pickets broke formation to escort her with his umbrella into the store he was picketing.

Hitler never stops to debate whether or not his critics are sincere. Official Nazi comment comes with the ring of the executioner's axe, followed by deep silence.

LEARN GOOD TENNIS FORM
TO SHINE ON THE COURTS

Develop Expert Footwork

How discouraging, when you'd like to play tennis well, to be always losing balls, to appear the ineffectual dud!

But cheer up! By practicing with the right instructions you can improve your form, learn to play a top-notch game.

When balls are missed or "fooled," the trouble often is poor footwork. Never launch and run at a ball unless you cannot reach it otherwise. You may end up off balance, with feet tangled.

To keep balanced, in a position from which you can hit hard and accurately, learn to "two-step" toward the ball.

Suppose your opponent's shot is coming toward your forehead, a little ahead of you. Step forward with your left foot always ahead, your right foot dragging after—as our diagram shows.

If the shot were coming to your backhand, you would "two-step" toward it in the same way, but with the right foot leading.

Other phases of tennis are as simple to master—and you can make a hit this Summer with your fast accurate game. Our 32-page booklet, by George Agutter teaches the serve, forehand, backhand, lob, volley, cut, etc. Gives expert advice on footwork, tactics, practicing.

Send 15 cents in coins for your copy. "Check" or "Money Order" to Home Service Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermott Ave. E., Winnipeg, Man.

Did Good Job

Over a cup of tea the two charlatans were discussing the persons they "did good."

"Then there's Mrs. Arris," said the one in the purple jumper. "Oh, my dear, 'er floors—you'd never believe! When I first started to oblige 'er, she was awful!"

She took a sip of tea and wiped her mouth on a purple sleeve.

"Now," she went on proudly—"now I've bin polishing 'em, three of 'er lady friends 'as bin 'ar broke 'er legs!"

Conditions In Poland

The British Broadcasting Corporation said that an average of 450 persons died every day during May in Warsaw because of lack of food, while at the same time the Germans published lists of food and other materials that had taken from Poland.

We think we now have proof that borrowing is a very old custom. The Chinese had umbrellas three thousand years ago.

THE WEEKLY PRESS

HELPS WAR EFFORT

The weekly press of Canada is providing valuable leadership in Canada's war effort and is devoting much space in putting across the various drives. Sam Dornan, secretary-manager of the Saskatchewan Division of the C.W.N.A. has taken time out to show what the weekly press of Canada is doing. Here is what he says:

"During our recent visit to Ottawa and Toronto, we were much impressed with the unanimous commendation given the press of Canada by the ministers of the federal government; each and all of them expressed their appreciation of the unstinted co-operation given all departments of federal activities. This was especially so in connection with the campaign for income tax installment payments and the war certificates drive.

"While the press, all sections of it, including daily and weekly newspapers, magazines and trade papers, received considerable paid advertising during these campaigns, there was much space given in the reading columns which added to the interest of the advertising.

"One section of the press of Canada which has given most generously of its space is the weekly newspaper, right across Canada from one coast to the other, there are over 500 weekly newspapers published in that number of communities, and each and all of them have rendered a special service in Canada's war effort.

"We had the opportunity while in Toronto of examining the huge volumes which were specially prepared to hold clippings from the press; in the weekly section we observed pages of clippings from the papers throughout the Dominion.

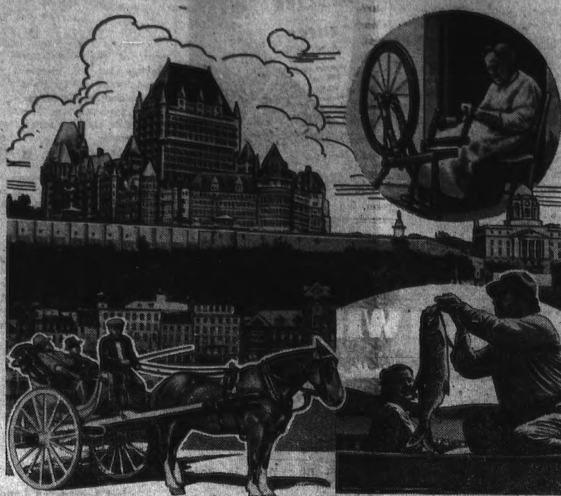

"Another matter which is vital to Canada's war effort is the publication in the weekly newspapers of letters in whole or in part, written by the soldiers, sailors and airmen overseas; such letters are of considerable interest to the citizens of Canada and especially so in the communities where the writers enlisted for service of king and country. The weekly press is the only section of the press doing this important job and doing it well."

UNDER THE SWASTIKA

"In nine concentration camps in France there are approximately 600 Czechoslovak. Living conditions in these camps are unbelievably terrible, not only as regards living quarters, but hygiene and food. People in these camps sleep on the ground in filth. There is no soap and an absolute lack of covers, clothing and shoes. It is logical, therefore, that they are ever-ready to exterminate."

"Having visited six camps in all, I personally verified the following: those interned receive per day 200 grammes (about 7 ounces) of bread, black water—impossible to call it coffee—twice daily soup and a portion of squash or beans. Twice a week a small piece of meat. Nothing more in the way of food. They never receive fat, butter, fresh vegetables or salad."—Report by Julius Heger, who recently made a tour of investigation for Czechoslovak Relief Inc., Chicago.

Vacation Delights In Old World Setting

Tourists who previously found the time-honored cities of Europe the answer to their vacation problems are today enjoying the same old world delights on their own side of the Atlantic—in old Quebec City where practically every vacation sport and pastime, including golf, tennis, fishing and hunting, combined with the most up-to-date accommodation, awaits the visitor in a medieval setting unique on the North American continent.

Easily accessible by Canadian Pacific rail lines from Montreal, New York, Boston, and other large eastern centres, Quebec is experiencing one of the liveliest seasons in its 300 years of history.

The opportunity of attending service in century-old churches, rambling through narrow, cobblestoned streets, and long-silenced battlefields, and seeing the colorful "habitant" at work in the fields, is a rare privilege in the new world, and one that Quebec alone can offer.

The ancient dwellings of Quebec's "Lower Town" stand out in sharp contrast to the modern grace of the Chateau Frontenac, popular headquarters for the Quebec visitor. This famed Canadian Pacific hotel is starting point for many a delightful sight-seeing tour by bus, cab, or lofty, horse-drawn calèche. With in easy distance lie the historical Plains of Abraham, the Citadel, the ancient city wall, the Great Dames, numerous monuments and other interesting landmarks.

Further afield the tourist is drawn to the picturesque Isle of Orleans, where farmers still sow by hand, plow by oxen, reap with the scythe and thresh with the flail, while women ply ancient hand-loom and spinning wheels.

Other nearby attractions include Wolfe's Cove, Quebec Bridge, the Shrine of St. Anne de Beaupre, Montmorency Falls and Kent House, while northward lies the famed Laurentides Park, a vast area of virgin lake, forest and stream country where vacation delights await at every turn.

Mrs. Jack Kerr and child, of Calgary, are visiting here with Mrs. Kerr's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Chappell.

The Middle Fork bridge near Lundbreck has been re-floored, and work is progressing on the re-flooding of the bridge near Peacevale.

Mayor E. Williams is quitting the mine, and on and after July 1st will devote all his time to the post of secretary of the Blairmore Local of the U. M. W. of A.

Tuesday next, July 1st, will be a gala day for Blairmore, where a big programme of sports will follow a mammoth parade, in which business people and organizations are co-operating in supplying floats, etc. There will be prizes for best decorated cars, bicycles and floats. You are asked to display all your patriotic bunting on July 1st.

Aunt Hetty: "Snakes alive! I don't believe no woman could ever been so fat."

Uncle Hiram: "What ya readin' now, Hetty?"

Hetty: "Why, this paper, tells all about an English woman losing two thousand pounds."

Mrs. Caroline Campbell Brown, sister of G. W. Buchanan, of Pincher Creek, passed away at Fort Arthur, Ontario, recently, at the age of 93.

Applications are being invited for a successor to Dr. R. F. Stewart, who has been minor medical officer for some years, and who is entering military service.

George Kerr, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Kerr, of Lethbridge, formerly of Blairmore, has given up his civilian teaching and will enter military service next week in the dental corps.

The strawberry tea held by the ladies at the United church on Wednesday afternoon was a real success. Large numbers of ladies, and a few men turned out to honor the strawberries.

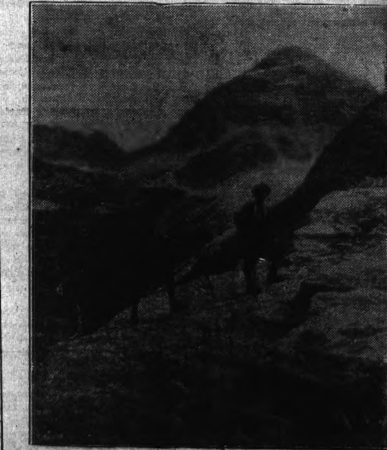

"And what's the child's name?" asked the minister.

"Shirley," replied the father.

"Shirley?" repeated the minister in surprise.

"Yes, sir—after the famous Shirley Temple."

"Yes, yes, of course," said the minister. "Let's see—who's the preacher there now?"

R.A.F. HAS NOW AN AUNT SALLY FLEET

Defying high explosives, bomb fumes and death by drowning, men are putting to sea in speed-boats which have been specially built to be attacked by the R.A.F.

These intrepid men are the crews of new armor-plated 40-foot boats, built in British yards renowned for racing craft and designed to withstand hits from high-precision bombs.

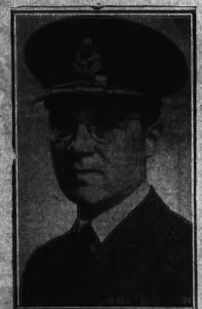

"Direct hits simply drill holes clean through the hull, which being packed with special buoyant substance called ozonox, one-fifth the weight of cork, can be "mended" comparatively easy.

Only smashings, where the crew of three and the vital parts are concentrated, is there stout armor plate, mounted on rubber buffers. Gas masks protect the men from bomb fumes and they are in radio communication with the bombing aeroplane. A safety tender lies near at hand.

The target boats not only turn in their own length, but can imitate the movement of any likely objective. From a steam train to zig-zagging naval vessels.

Training with them gives pilots and bomb-squads of the R.A.F. valuable practice for their attacks upon moving enemy objectives.

NEWS FROM EDMONTON

(T. B. Windross)

Edmonton, June 24.—Post-war developments and problems were discussed at Olds farm week opening ceremonies by Premier Aberhart and Hon. D. B. MacMillan this week, both of them making general optimistic statements of what they predict will happen in Alberta after the war ends.

The premier, with his usual exaggeration and over-statement on matters which he doesn't understand, declared that Alberta can feed and take care of "ten to twenty times the number of people who are here today." The present population of Alberta is between 750,000 and 800,000. According to the premier the province can feed and protect 16,000,000. The present population of the whole of Canada is around 12,000,000 or 13,000,000.

Isn't that typically Aberhartian? Experts who have for many years made a close study of the possibility of maintaining population in the western provinces, and of the possibility of increasing the land's ability to maintain increased population, have given it as their view that the arable land that can still be settled in the west would only maintain an increase in population of millions less than the number of people Mr. Aberhart's exaggeration suggests.

But, the premier of Alberta was only following his bent—talking about matters he has only casually studied and of which he has only a smattering of knowledge. Mr. MacMillan might be expected to do better, because he has not established a reputation for making wild-eyed statements like a carpet-bag politician.

Dr. F. A. Wyatt, professor of soils at the University of Alberta, in dealing with the possibilities of population maintenance in the unsettled and wooded sections of Alberta, declares that the possible increase of population in the western provinces will be largely in Alberta, and he fixes the possible increase there at around 200,000 to 250,000 in the next 25 years.

In a recent booklet, published by the Ryerson Press, of Toronto, and sold for only 25 cents, Andrew Stewart, authority on such matters as agricultural development and land settlement, covers the whole subject carefully, and we would suggest to Premier Aberhart that before he makes any more of his wild, political, bombastic deliveries on post-war settlement that he read this booklet, as well as some other volumes on the subject, he is dealing with, so as to avoid making himself ridiculous.

"Aye," replied Jack, "and so would the Germans."

"Not half such a fool as I'd look trying to milk a bicycle," answered the farmer.

WAR EFFORT OF CANADA IS TO BE INCREASED

Ottawa.—A general enlargement of the Canadian war effort both in the training of manpower and production of materials is expected shortly.

It is understood efforts will be made to reduce consumption of gasoline and oil, and that manufacture of automobiles and other mechanical equipment for non-war use will be further restricted.

Many other administrative measures are awaiting decision, including the appointment of ministers to Brazil and the Argentine, both of which have already sent their ministers to Canada in the exchange agreed upon last winter.

Preparations for construction of huge, four-motored bombers of the "Liberator" type, in the Canada Car and Foundry plant at Port William is understood to be waiting only the go ahead signal once the license has been obtained from the United States and arrangements completed with the company.

Although there have been no official pronouncements it is reported unofficially that the air training plan will be greatly enlarged with a long-range program to sharply increase the output of trained air personnel.

Canada's role in the battles of Libya and other parts of Africa as a manufacturer of motor vehicles and other supplies is indicated in export figures for May released by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

Last month Canadian exports to Egypt were valued at $11,130,000 against an aggregate to their vital war theatre of only $206,000, in May, 1940. The first five months of the year, up to the end of May, exports to Egypt totalled $18,686,000 against an aggregate to this first five months of 1940.

It is understood the phenomenal increase is largely due to the use of Canadian trucks and other vehicles by the army of the Nile in its offensive against the enemy in Libya and its defensive operations for the protection of Egypt and the Suez canal.

Figures on exports by country of destination, in May, show other sharp contrasts to those of a year ago as a result of the trend of war.

Canadian exports to Japan dropped from $360,000 in May 1940, to $119,000 last month. By contrast the Netherlands East Indies with which Japan is seeking to establish closer trade relations took $120,000 worth of Canadian goods last month against $83,000 worth in May, 1940.

British East Africa exports of goods against $45,000 in May, 1940; Southern Rhodesia, $230,000 worth against $185,000; British West Africa, $98,000 worth against $47,000. The total for the month was $161,639,000 against $109,863,000 a year ago. Shipments to both the United Kingdom and the United States were up as were shipments to most Empire countries and countries in the western hemisphere.

Within Eighty Days

London Paper Predicts September As Likely Month For Invasion

London.—Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard predicted editorially that an invasion of Britain will be attempted by Germany within 80 days. It said September is the likeliest month. Coupling its invasion prediction with reports of Russo-German tension, the Standard said Hitler "may come after Russia has prostrate or after Russia has tamed."

Fruit For Britons

London.—The British Broadcasting Corporation reported 114,000 cases of oranges have arrived from South Africa for distribution among 34 of Britain's hardest-hit areas. Five consignments of lemons which arrived in the same shipment will be added to marmalade and lemon juice.

Seize Italian Ship

Washington.—The maritime commission announced it had taken formal possession of the Clara, a 6,131-ton, first of the 28 ex-Italian ships seized up in United States waters. Six Danish vessels were also taken over.

Made Thrilling Escape

London.—A Royal marine officer with a "considerable number" of troops were reported here to have escaped from Crete to Egypt in a British flat-bottom motor barge. The group made the 230-mile voyage in a week, it was said.

Germany Needs More Oil

Although immediate War And Industrial Needs Can Be Met Washington.—The Foreign Policy Association said that Germany has sufficient oil to meet its immediate war and industrial needs, but cannot hope to organize Europe's economy successfully without additional oil resources.

"It is not an immediate need, therefore, which may have dictated the recent German drive toward Iraq and Iran," a report of the private research organization said, "but the desire to secure adequate supplies for the new German empire in Europe." The report was prepared by Louis B. Frschling.

Germany's present requirements, of approximately 55,000,000 barrels a year, the report added, are "just covered by production in western Europe of synthetic and crude oil and imports from Rumania and Russia."

Crete Campaign

Proved To Be A Great Delaying Defensive Action

London.—In reply to criticism of the Crete campaign in the house of Lords, Lord Moyne, colonial secretary, said it had been a great defensive action, safeguarding the Suez canal and costing the Germans four lives for every British soldier killed.

He added "we lost relatively little military material and we can set against that the tremendous price which the Germans paid through loss of at least 430 of their costliest type of airplanes, apart from those crashed out of sight of the British defenses."

"Undoubtedly," he went on, "in these operations great numbers of highly specialized German personnel have been killed and it is clear that for the moment, the teeth of the Luftwaffe have been blunted."

Refuse To Wear Uniform

Internment Outfit Does Not Appeal To German Officers

Somewhere in Ontario, Col. Hubert Bithen, director of internment camps for Canada, told a group of visiting United States newspaperwomen here that German officers, who generally have given no trouble in the camps, refuse even to wear an internment outfit bearing the Nazi swastika.

Authorities provide an internment outfit of blue denim with a red stripe down the back of the shirt and a red stripe down the pant leg.

The officers have refused to wear the uniform. The Canadian authorities offered to mark the shirt with a white circle with a black swastika but the officers still refused.

British Blockade

Would Prevent German Troops From Using Finnish Port

London.—Britain has clamped down a blockade around Petsamo, Finland's Arctic port, on the ground that large numbers of German troops are pouring into the country, it was disclosed.

The blockade is being enforced, the Ministry of Economic Warfare said, because the Germans, instead of merely passing through Finland, are taking up permanent residence. British authorities formerly had agreed upon resumption of sea traffic to and from Petsamo subject of the stipulation that nothing would reach the Germans.

Already three Finnish vessels on the way to Petsamo have been intercepted and detained.

Famous English Derby

R.A.F. Protected Big Crowd From Any Possible Air Attack

Newmarket, Eng.—The Royal Air Force took no chances of a German bombing or strafing attack on the 50,000 spectators at the Derby, one of the biggest crowds assembled in England since the war.

It put every kind of plane in the air and the roar of their motors drowned out the hoofbeats below. Sports events are often "covered" by a few planes, but the Derby drew the biggest patrol since aerial warfare started in earnest last July.

Civilian Technical Corps

London.—Air Minister Sir Archibald Sinclair announced in the House of Commons a civilian technical corps will be set up in Britain for men from other countries who answer Lord Beaverbrook's appeal for skilled technicians.

Study Bomb Effects

London.—A mobile squad of 29 engineering, chemistry and other technical experts has been formed to document the effect of bombs, photograph and study the effects of the explosions.

Bombs On Dublin

Germans Admit They Dropped A Few On May Night

London.—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Dublin said the Irish information bureau had issued a statement saying Germany admits responsibility for the bombing of the capital of Eire on the night of May 31.

The Eire government's announcement said it had been informed by the Germans as follows:

"The thorough investigations made by competent German authorities concerning the dropping of bombs on Dublin May 31 now establishes the responsibility of German aircraft."

"It has been ascertained a German aircraft flew over the city morning of May 31. The aircraft changed its course as soon as it recognized it was over Irish territory but in any case it did not drop any bombs."

Since, however, the Irish government have stated their investigations have shown that bombs dropped on Dublin were of German origin and as a very strong wind was prevailing at high altitudes on the night in question it may have driven aircraft over the east Irish coast without the knowledge of the pilot."

More Co-operation

Want More Equitable Exchange Of Products Between Provinces

Prediction.—Federated Women's Institutes of Canada decided to ask the federal government to co-operate with provincial governments in considering a more equitable exchange of products interprovincially by adjusting freight rates and regulating exchange of goods.

Delegates said people on the prairie would like to have grains and dairy products for fruits from provinces which grow them and to make other exchanges where possible.

BRITISH COMMENT ON THE BERLIN-TURKISH PACT

London.—British informed circles viewed the new German-Turkish friendship pact as a move by Berlin to increase Russian fears of encirclement and said Germany accepted much less than she had hoped to gain by the treaty with Britain's non-belligerent ally.

The general view here was that Hitler had agreed to a mere stop-gap agreement with the Turks in order to impress the Soviet. Later if Stalin is brought to terms, the idea would be to renew pressure on Ankara for further concessions.

An informed source said Turkey's "complete frankness" and her insistence on preserving her treaty obligations with Britain had in a large measure "softened what otherwise might have been regarded as a diplomatic blow."

Turkey had shown frankness in informing this country of the negotiation and impending signature, it was said, and the announcement caused no surprise in London.

It was said that while the pact contained "possible future dangers" Britain had reason to be grateful that Turkey "by remaining firm on essentials has concluded an agreement infinitely less dangerous than the Germans desire."

Germany had previously insisted Turkey should abandon her friendship with Britain and grant Germany extensive economic and military concessions, informed sources said.

BACK TO AID WAR EFFORT

Reginald B. Jackson for 10 years, director of commercial aviation for the Thailand government, returned to his Edmonton home recently to aid in Canada's war effort. He says Japan's land is being stayed from attacks on British possessions in the Orient because of uncertainty as to what action the U.S. Pacific fleet might take.

To Train In Canada

Organization Of A Polish Army Has Been Arranged

Toronto.—Stanislas Mikolajczyk, acting vice-president of the republic of Poland, arrived here to be present with Gen. Wladyslaw Sikorski in conference with government leaders here.

Mikolajczyk said that the largest concentrated Polish population in the world outside the city of Warsaw, is in Chicago and that organization of a Polish army on this continent has definitely been arranged. Camps will be operated at Windsor, Ont., and Owen Sound, Ont., and most of the recruits are expected to come from the United States.

The majority of Polish residents in Canada have become Canadian citizens, Mikolajczyk said, and could not join any forces other than Canadian. The restriction does not apply in the United States, however, and he expected large numbers to enlist.

Without Direct Heir

Title Bestowed On Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett May Become Extinct

London.—The title bestowed on Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett likely will become extinct when he dies.

Without direct heir, the only way the title could be continued for the former Canadian prime minister's next of kin would be by "special remainder"—a rarely granted honor by which the title would be inherited by indirect heir or heirs.

A reminder granted by the sovereign is considered an even higher honor than the original title and has been granted only a few peers in the last half century, notably Earl Kitchener and Earl Roberts.

Records Earthquake

Ottawa.—An earthquake of moderate intensity was registered at the Dominion observatory June 18th, and distance from the epicentre was placed at 1,975 miles. No determination could be made of the direction. Instruments continued to record tremors for an hour.

Nazis Burn Documents

Chicago.—Attaches of the German consulate in Chicago were burning thousands of documents as a preliminary to the closing of the consulate as ordered by the United States government.

Planes For Britain

Heavy Shipments From United States To Be Arrived

Washington.—The United States commerce department disclosed 961 airplanes were shipped to other countries in April—an increase of 110 longer says exactly where such shipments go, but presumably nearly all of them went to the British Empire or China.

The airplanes were valued at $47,077,906, compared with a $27,506,434 valuation on the March craft.

Shipment of extra airplane engines, however, declined from 1,102 engines, worth $13,782,146, in March to 700 engines, worth $8,223,894, in April.

Exports of engine parts and accessories increased from $2,914,589 in March to $3,111,552 in April, setting a record for this classification.

With the total of $68,282,840 of all kinds of airplanes and equipment exported in April, aeronautical shipments in the first four months of the year totalled $190,666,430, nearly double the amount of the similar period last year.

Ferry Pilots

Receive $1,500 A Month For Flying Bombers Across Atlantic

New York.—W. G. Gollen, western division chief pilot for Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., announced that he and two other pilots would tour the country to seek and train aviators to ferry bombers across the Atlantic to Britain.

Gollen said he would interview his first group of applicants at Kansas City, Mo., and others later in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Washington and Minneapolis.

Qualified pilots, with a minimum of 600 hours of flying (400 for co-pilots) will receive $1,500 a month and bonuses—$2,500 after each 10 round trips and an extra $5,000 after 50 round trips. Co-pilots will receive $1,200 a month and navigators $800 with 10-trip bonuses of $2,000 and $1,200, respectively, and 24-trip extra rewards of $4,000 and $2,400.

NEW DEVICE FOR SPOTTING PLANES IN NIGHT FLYING

Washington.—Britain's radiolocator for spotting enemy planes may eliminate night bombing in a few months time, Air Commodore George Pirie of the Royal Air Force said here, in announcing that the device had been turned over to the United States.

Calling for American volunteers to service the radiolocator in Britain and to perform other technical work there, Air Commodore Pirie, air attaché at the British embassy, said headquarters for a civilian technical corps in which American radio technicians and other skilled mechanics may enroll will be in New York. A transit centre will be established in Montreal where Lower Canada College has been rented for that purpose.

Air Commodore Pirie termed the radiolocator the most spectacular scientific development of the war. It now is in mass production and is being manufactured faster than technicians can be trained to operate and repair it.

He said it has potentialities as a submarine-detection apparatus and British officials are hopeful it will eliminate night bombing in a few months time, perhaps a year. It is not affected by fog or darkness and keeps a 24-hour watch by means of electric waves it transmits.

Pirie shied away from all technical details of the radiolocator. He said, however, it spots an approaching plane by means of compass bearings taken simultaneously from two points. Not only does it give the location of the plane but the direction it is flying and its speed can be determined accurately.

Night fighters are equipped with the radiolocator, Pirie said, and this probably is the reason for the relative success they have enjoyed in recent weeks against German bombers. Officials of the British air ministry gave the radiolocator much of the credit for winning the Battle of Britain last fall.

Radiolocators in Northern Ireland are used to spot German planes heading out to sea for raiding purposes. It is confidently expected, Pirie indicated, that the state department will interpose no objection under the Neutrality Act to the American volunteers travelling to Britain.

At one time Great Britain endeavored to institute outright recruiting for military service, he disclosed, but the state department said that was "quite impossible."

BRITAIN READY TO MEET ANY NAZI INVASION THREAT

London.—Indicating that Britain is not being lulled into any feeling of false security by Nazi diplomatic activity in the Middle East and the present fog of Russian-German rumor, there came an ominous warning from qualified sources that Britons may expect to receive "some terrific blow this summer."

As was the case last spring, when similar warnings were given, Lord Beaverbrook's newspapers have again brought the invasion threat to their front pages.

Coupled with this recurrence of invasion threat are several concrete indications. For nine nights in a row the Royal Air Force blasted Boulogne and the so-called "invasion ports" along the German-held coast of France, military encampments in France have been machine-gunned by the R.A.F., coastal shipping has been vigorously attacked.

This can only mean, observers say, what it has meant in the past—concentration of Nazi forces and ships in the important channel ports which have been found out by Britain's "eyes," her reconnaissance craft, and attacked by Britain's heavy bombers.

Another reason for the vigilance warnings has been the report of large Nazi troop concentrations at certain points in Norway. Experts have said that Norway would be one of the main jumping-off points for the Nazi forces bent on attacking the British Isles.

Completion of another important anti-invasion manoeuvre in which the Canadian army participated was pointed to as another example of the watch that Britain is maintaining against the possible storming of this citadel—which Hitler must try to take if he is to win the war, and which, authorities agree, he will fail to take.

From a usually well-informed British source came this statement:

"Germany in her determination to end the war this summer is preparing some terrific blow against Britain herself."

For obvious reasons no details were given. Royal Air Force bombers escorted by a strong force of fighter planes hit a German-held French coastal position, hitting docks and oil tanks at La Havre and a German supply ship, the ministry announced.

German Morale

Increased British Bombing On Reich Ports Will Have Effect

Boston.—Viscount Halifax said that if Hitler "goes prancing into Russia" after failing to bring the British campaign to a decisive stage, a break in the morale of the German armies will occur through worry over increased British bombing of their home towns.

Declaring the increased production of American long-range bombers would enable the Royal Air Force to set up its attacks on the inner reach, particularly if Nazi attention is partly diverted to Russia, the British ambassador said in an interview.

"The time will come when the German army will begin to realize that its homes, its families, its industries are being bombed more and more, and at some point, the army will begin to say 'Where is the end of this?' Nothing has a worse effect on the morale of armies than being perpetually mobilized in hostile countries."

Royal Family Firewatchers

London.—The King and all the members of the royal family have registered as firewatchers in the city of Westminster where Buckingham Palace is situated. When compulsory fire-watching was introduced on the premises of the palace the King insisted that the royal residence be registered in the same way as other buildings.

Japs Are Persistent

Tokyo.—The Japanese government voiced its determination to attempt to participate in aviation, shipping and communications in the Netherlands East Indies on an equal footing with United States and Great Britain after acknowledging a breakdown in present negotiations with the Netherlands government.
